

Paul Tauriello

Colorado Division of Workers Compensation

Paul Tauriello, Director of the Colorado Division of Workers' Compensation. Paul Tauriello has been director of the Division of Workers' Compensation for the past six years. He was Deputy Director and Associate Director for about ten years prior. While working at the Division for the past nineteen years, he has overseen all of its programs including claims management, coverage enforcement, medical policy and cost containment. His areas of focus have included risk management, insurance and employer programs. Before joining the division, Paul was an executive for an airline with regional operations across North America.