

Dr. Jorge Trujillo

Dr. Jorge Trujillo is certified by the American Board of Preventive Medicine as a specialist in occupational and preventive medicine. He received his Medical Doctorate from the CES School of Medicine in 1987. His PhD was earned in 1995 and his MPH in 1998 at Johns Hopkins University. Dr. Trujillo completed his clinical residencies in preventive medicine and occupational medicine in 1999 and 2000 respectively, also at Johns Hopkins University.

From serving as an adjunct professor of environmental and occupational health at the University of South Florida, to being a member of the American College of Occupational and Environmental Medicine, Dr. Trujillo is heavily involved in the medical community. He has received many honors over the years, including being listed by the Consumers' Research Council of America as one of "America's Top Physicians".

Dr. Trujillo is a certified Medical Review Officer and a National Registry Certified Medical Examiner. Throughout his nearly 20 years of practice, Dr. Trujillo's proven reputation for always providing the best possible medical treatment has been unparalleled.