

Orlando G. Florete, Jr., MD

Integrated Pain Services
Jacksonville FL

Dr. Florete is the Medical Director and Interventional Pain Management Specialist for the Institute of Pain Management and Director of the Florida Institute of Medical Research, both in Jacksonville, Florida. Dr. Florete is highly-esteemed and frequently invited speaker at both national and international symposia, lecturing on pain management and treatment algorithms. In 2011, he was honored by the International Association of Anesthesiologists, naming him one of the leading physicians of the world.

Dr. Florete's research has been extensively published, with numerous book chapters and journal articles to his credit as well as abstracts and teaching materials. He has received numerous scholarships and awards among them the Winthrop Stearns Scholarship Award and the Community Service Award from the Department of Anesthesiology, University of Florida College of Medicine.