Deanna Parker began her civil service career with the U.S. Department of Justice in Washington, DC as a Legal Assistant after ending her active duty service with the U.S. Army in 2001. She served with the Justice Department until 2005, when she transferred to the U.S. Department of Labor's Division of Energy Employees Occupational Illness Compensation Program in Jacksonville, Florida as a Claims Examiner. While working with the Energy Program, she served as a Senior Claims Examiner and was later promoted to Supervisory Claims Examiner in 2008. Deanna left the Energy Program in 2014 to join the Wage and Hour Division in Atlanta, Georgia as a Supervisor for the Wage Determination Section. After a brief tenure with the Wage and Hour Division, Deanna returned to Jacksonville, Florida in 2015 to serve as a Claims Examiner with the U. S. Department of Labor's Longshore and Harbor Workers' Compensation Act Division, where she continues to serve as an examiner to date. She earned a Master's Degree in Business Administration at Saint Leo University. She is married with one daughter.
