

Bradley Reese

Brad is Director of Asbury Automotive Group, one of the largest automotive retailers in the U.S., operating over 80 retail auto stores, encompassing 103 franchises for the sale and servicing of 29 different brands of American, European and Asian automobiles. Brad manages corporate risk management and oversees the implementation of risk training, best practices, and cost allocation based on risk exposure and claim development among the Asbury Automotive locations. Brad has previously served as Chief Financial Officer for Townsend Building Supply and Loss Control Manager for Sonic Automotive. Brad has a Bachelor's of Science in Finance from Auburn University.