Kimberly A. Hill is a sole practitioner specializing in handling workers' compensation appellate proceedings. Ms. Hill is Board Certified by the Florida Bar in both Workers' Compensation Law (1995) and Appellate Practice (1997). She has a niche practice with a primary focus on handling workers' compensation appeals for injured workers. However, she also handles civil and federal court appellate matters that have some association to the Workers' Compensation Law. Before starting her appellate practice in 2008, Ms. Hill was a partner for a large Florida insurance defense firm. There she handled workers' compensation litigation at both the trial and appellate levels. She has given presentations and has served as a panelist in her areas of specialty at numerous educational conferences/seminars sponsored by the Florida Bar.

Additionally, Ms. Hill has written articles on varying workers' compensation and appellate topics for several legal publications. Ms. Hill was admitted to the Florida Bar in 1989, after graduating from NSU Shepard Broad Law Center. She is also licensed to practice in the U.S. District Court for the Southern District of Florida and the United States Court of Appeals for the Eleventh Circuit. Also, Ms. Hill is a member of the Broward County Bar Association, the Workers' Compensation and Appellate Practice Sections of the Florida Bar, Friends of 440, Florida Justice Association (FJA) and Florida Workers Advocates [FWA]. She is a former board member for the FWA and is currently a member of FWA serving on the amicus committee. In her capacity on the amicus committee of FWA, Ms. Hill has written amicus briefs on behalf of various organizations on several high profile cases in both the First District Court of Appeal and in the Supreme Court of Florida.
