Overview

Jordan has practiced in the area of workers' compensation defense for 7+ years, representing a variety of businesses. Jordan has extensive courtroom experience, litigating hundreds of cases in the Court of Existing Claims and the Commission. Jordan focuses on cost-effective defense, striving to provide early resolution for her clients. She received her Bachelor of Science degree from Northeastern State University and her Juris Doctor degree from Oklahoma City University School of Law, where she received The CALI Excellence Award for Professional Responsibility in 2009.

Jordan currently serves as a board member of the Oklahoma Bar Association Workers' Compensation Section and served as the Chairperson for 2017-2018. Jordan is also a member of the Tulsa County Bar Association and Women's Law Association. In her free time, she enjoys spending time with her husband, Ryan, and trying to keep up with her young daughter, Elliot.
